DEAR HY-VEE READER,

With the return of spring, I’m ready for a food adventure. I want to taste the fresh flavors of the season and cook up new combinations. This is the time of year when I’m up for anything. Bring on the seafood, grilled melba peach salad or Peas and Pancetta Frittata, see page 63. I want my flavors lively and luscious. You probably feel the same way.

Local growers have started delivering early produce to the store. I’m particularly excited about using the freshest herbs, lemons and cheese. I’m also looking forward to fresh tomatoes and goat cheese, so I can make tomato tarts.

As a Hy-Vee chef, I enjoy sharing cooking tips with our customers. Just the other day I talked with a customer about making apple pie. A couple of steps had been tripping her up, so we talked it through. It was easy. Afterwards, she went home, made it that night and came back the next day. “My family just loved it,” she told me. “They ate the whole thing and now I’m back here to get more ingredients to make another!”

Lots of great recipes and other helpful information await you in this Spring issue of Hy-Vee Seasons. Get ready to serve fresh, nutritious “Salads that Sizzle,” page 24, and discover an efficient approach to shopping and cooking in “Meals for the Week,” page 60. With this issue, Hy-Vee is also introducing two new lines in the Bakery: pies that are unmatched in quality and taste, “Let Them Eat Pie,” page 18; and all-new croissants in “Croissants,” page 32.

Our goal is to help you make the most of life. Try one of our pies or croissants and we will have done our jobs. We hope you enjoy this issue of Hy-Vee Seasons.

Sincerely,
Christina Ryan-Pfleeger, Chef

Iced Coffee

Ready when you are on the go, Maxwell House Iced Coffee Concentrate is rich, bold and full-flavored—just the way you like it. Now available in three refreshing flavors: House Blend, Vanilla, and Caramel. Simply mix with milk or water.
Brussels Sprouts

Show some love for Brussels sprouts. These nutritional powerhouses offer a complex nutty flavor with a subtle crunch. Cook sprouts until tender, not mushy. Roasting, sautéing and grilling caramelize their natural sugars, bringing out sweetness.

SELECT

Choose sprouts with plump, firm heads that are vibrant green—the smaller the head, the sweeter the taste. The freshest sprouts will have minimal nicks and few torn or yellowing leaves. Brussels sprouts stay fresh longer when purchased on the stalk.

STORE

Remove any damaged or loose outer leaves; store in produce bag in the coldest part of the refrigerator. Although they'll last a couple of weeks, try to cook sprouts as soon as possible. After three to four days their flavor may become strong and less pleasant.

PREP

Wash Brussels sprouts and pat dry. Trim the stem from each and remove discolored outer leaves. No need to trim the stem if purchasing a stalk. Cut large sprouts in half lengthwise to allow heat penetration. For best flavor, cook just until tender. Cook using one of the methods, page 9.
The best beef in the world arguably comes from the Midwest, just like us! We have strict and specific criteria to hand-pick the best beef. That’s how you know our beef has the highest standards of tenderness, quality and flavor.
SPROUT CHIPS SNACK

Remove the outer leaves from Brussels sprouts, toss with olive oil and desired seasonings. Scatter leaves on a parchment-paper-lined baking sheet and bake in a 400°F oven for 18 to 20 minutes or until crisp.

Prep: 20 minutes | Grill: 6 to 8 minutes | Serves 4

1/2 cup Hy-Vee mayonnaise
1 teaspoon lemon zest
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon Hy-Vee Dijon mustard
1 clove garlic, minced
Hy-Vee kosher sea salt and Hy-Vee black pepper, to taste
1 pound Brussels sprouts
2 tablespoons Hy-Vee Select olive oil
1 tablespoon chopped fresh thyme
1/4 teaspoon Hy-Vee kosher sea salt
1/4 teaspoon Hy-Vee black pepper

1. Prepare a charcoal or gas grill for direct grilling over medium-high heat.
2. For Lemon Aioli, in a small bowl, combine mayonnaise, lemon zest, lemon juice, Dijon mustard and garlic. Season to taste with salt and pepper; set aside.
3. Trim stem ends of Brussels sprouts; remove any tough outer leaves. Halve any large Brussels sprouts; place Brussels sprouts in a large microwave-safe bowl. Microwave on HIGH for 3 minutes. Add olive oil, thyme, salt and pepper; stir to coat. Cool slightly.
4. Skewer Brussels sprouts onto metal skewers, leaving a 1/2-inch space between pieces. Grill for 3 minutes. Turn and grill for 3 to 5 minutes more or until sprouts are tender. Remove from grill; let cool slightly. Remove Brussels sprouts from skewers and serve with Lemon Aioli.

Traveling the world in search of fishers delivering to the highest standards, Hy-Vee has gained the sources and knowledge needed to offer the tastiest, safest, most sustainable fish and shellfish you’ll find anywhere.
For seafood that has a mild, distinctively ocean taste, a plate piled high with reddish-orange King crab legs is a mountain of pleasure. Add a shell cracker to open the crab and a cup of melted butter mixed with garlic, and the meal will soon disappear.

“When we stock crab, it goes in a hurry. If people see a mound of it in the case, you see them turn toward the crab as soon as they spot it,” says Carl Stratton, Hy-Vee seafood manager in Ankeny, Iowa.

AN OCEAN OF CHOICES
Crab is just one of many Hy-Vee seafood offerings. There are dozens of other choices.

For ocean fish, there are wild Alaskan sockeye salmon, Copper River salmon, cod, halibut, swordfish, snapper and others. Some specialty fish are offered when available, such as grouper fresh from Florida.

You can always get precooked or fresh shrimp from small to large. There are also precooked crab legs and clams. Lobster is available live or precooked. Look for ready-to-bake entrées, too.

Also look for these varieties:

Barramundi. This mild white fish is firm and succulent. A sea bass native to Australian waters, it’s also raised on an aquaculture farm in Iowa. This nutritional powerhouse is rich in omega-3 fatty acids.

Belize shrimp. Raised in the Central American country of Belize, shrimp grow in sea-pond enclosures kept clean with a flow of fresh, filtered seawater. Nothing contaminates the pure water. The result is a sweet, meaty shrimp with lobsterlike flavor.

Mount Cook Salmon. This New Zealand fish is “the highest quality farm-raised salmon you can get. Absolutely phenomenal,” Carl says.

This species is raised in clean glacial springwater. There are no other animals or contaminants in the flow and the environment offers ideal conditions for exercising the fish. Swimming helps fish mature.

Tuna. “If you know how to grill a steak, you know how to cook tuna,” Carl says. “It’s done rare. You just grill it for a few minutes on each side and you’ll get a great, high-end, fine-tasting piece of fish.”

FRESH, SAFE AND DELICIOUS
Hy-Vee delivers the cleanest, safest, most nutritious fish and shellfish available. In comparison to other nationally known supermarkets, the advocacy organization Greenpeace praised Hy-Vee.

For the first time, Hy-Vee appeared in 2014 on the Greenpeace “Seafood Retail Scorecard,” placing fifth among 26 major supermarket chains. The group called Hy-Vee’s performance “impressive” and praised the company for its seafood program, saying Hy-Vee’s “energy to take the initiative is felt throughout the [supermarket] industry.”

Though all Hy-Vee seafood is safe, look for blue Responsible Choice labels throughout the department. These products meet the environmental impact, safe-seafood standards of the Seafood Watch program at California’s Monterey Bay Aquarium. Hy-Vee has publicly committed that by the end of 2015 it will only sell seafood meeting the program standards.

Also note that, though not required by law, Hy-Vee employs a fulltime U.S. Department of Commerce seafood inspector at the company’s central seafood warehouse to make certain all the seafood you buy is fit for your table.

Those working the Hy-Vee seafood counters can answer your questions about where specific fish come from and how seafood is safely handled before purchase, plus offer tips about cooking. Find recipes and news at the Seafoodies Blog, seafoodies.hy-vee.com

LOBSTER BOIL
Cooking lobster is very easy. To cook four lobsters of about 1¾ pounds each, stir ¼ cup of salt into 2 to 3 gallons of water. Bring to boiling. Place lobsters in the boiling water and cook about 10 minutes. (Some cooks place live lobsters into the boiling water. Those who prefer a more humane approach place lobsters in the freezer for 2 hours before boiling.)

If you would rather have someone else cook your lobsters, ask for them to be steamed at the seafood counter. “It’s hard to top lobster when you want an easy-to-fix meal for a dinner party,” says Hy-Vee seafood manager Carl Stratton.

All Dressed Up

Oil, vinegar and flavorings are all you need to make a fresh vinaigrette. You’ll love this blend for its crisp, vibrant flavor. Use it as a marinade or a dressing to add flavor distinction to the Flank Steak and Potato Salad, page 26.

HERB VINAIGRETTE

Shallot, fresh herbs and garlic are flavorful components that make this vinaigrette worth having in your repertoire.

Prep: 20 minutes | Serves 8 (2 tablespoons each)

- ½ cup aged white wine vinegar
- 1 tablespoon Hy-Vee Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon Hy-Vee salt
- ¼ cup chopped shallot
- 2 tablespoons Hy-Vee honey
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh basil
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh thyme
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- ½ teaspoon Hy-Vee black pepper
- 2 tablespoons Hy-Vee Select olive oil

1. In a bowl, whisk together the vinegar and Worcestershire sauce.
2. Add salt and continue whisking until salt is dissolved.
3. Whisk in shallot, honey, basil, thyme, garlic and pepper.
4. Gradually add olive oil while whisking vigorously. Continue whisking until the ingredients have emulsified and thickened.
5. Taste and adjust the seasonings, if needed. If using the vinaigrette to dress a greens salad, dip a piece of lettuce into the dressing to see how they taste together. Then season to taste.
6. Transfer vinaigrette to a bottle or jar. Use vinaigrette right away or cover and store in the refrigerator for up to 5 days. Let chilled vinaigrette stand at room temperature for 30 minutes before serving.
7. To use vinaigrette as a marinade, place meat in a large resealable bag and pour the vinaigrette over top. Press out the air from the bag and seal. Massage the bag gently to distribute the marinade evenly. Discard marinade when drained from the meat.
8. To use vinaigrette as a dressing, add small amounts at a time to the salad. Do this just before serving so salad leaves stay crisp.
STEP 1: In a bowl, whisk together the vinegar and Worcestershire sauce.

STEP 2: Add salt and continue whisking until salt is dissolved.

STEP 3: Whisk in shallot, honey, basil, thyme, garlic and black pepper.

STEP 4: Gradually add olive oil while whisking vigorously. Continue whisking until the ingredients have emulsified and thickened.

STEP 5: Taste and adjust the seasonings, if needed. If using the vinaigrette to dress a salad of greens, dip a piece of lettuce into the dressing to see how they taste together.

STEP 6: Transfer vinaigrette to a bottle or jar.

SO VIBRANT, SO VERSATILE

Fresh homemade vinaigrettes allow for creativity in the kitchen. Here are six ways to use them.

01. MARINATE LIKE MAGIC
A tangy vinaigrette turns tougher, less expensive cuts of meat into mouthwatering masterpieces. Place the meat in a large resealable plastic bag; pour vinaigrette over top. Press out the air from bag, and seal. Massage the bag gently to distribute the marinade evenly. While meat marinates, turn bag occasionally. Discard marinade after using.

02. BOOST VEGGIE FLAVORS
Drizzle vinaigrette over warm oven-roasted or crisp-cooked veggies to give them a vinegary zing. A spoonful also gives a nice lift to potato salad.

03. PICKLE A FEW PEPPERS AND ONIONS
Heat some vinaigrette in a saucepan. Toss in chile peppers pricked with a paring knife and red onion slices. Cool. Store chile pepper mixture and vinaigrette in a covered glass jar or bowl in the refrigerator for up to 2 weeks. Serve peppers and onions on grilled burgers.

04. POACH FISH
Add some vinaigrette to the poaching water. It’s an easy way to enhance the flavor.

05. JAZZ UP A SAUCE
If store-bought barbecue sauce doesn’t do it for you, add vinaigrette by the tablespoonful to taste.

06. BLEND TO THICKEN
For a smoother, thicker vinaigrette, place all ingredients, except the oil in a blender. Cover and blend to combine. With the blender running, gradually add the oil in a thin, steady stream through the hole in the lid. Adding the oil gradually will ensure a thick emulsion.

LET THEM EAT PIE!

WORDS Courtenay Wolf PHOTOS Greg Scheidemann
START WITH A TENDER crust that flakes into buttery shards. Fill it generously with sweet-tart heirloom apples from a 100-year-old family orchard. Fold in just the right amount of imported cinnamon and pure sugar. Bake to golden perfection.

Done right, pie is love at first bite. Mounds of meringue sit atop rich coconut cream. Juicy sun-ripened peaches hide in a light, buttery crust. Decadent chocolate is frothed into the creamy bliss that is French Silk.

Hy-Vee’s new gourmet pies are hands down the best you can get. They’re made from scratch in small batches using superior natural ingredients: real sugar, cocoa, bananas, coconut, orchard-fresh fruit, finely milled pastry flour and more. At your local Hy-Vee bakery, you’ll find 12 irresistible flavors, including fresh fruit, cream, meringue, French silk and other specialty pies. All are available in two sizes: a 10-inch and a new 6-inch, just right for one or two people.

The change began about a year ago with a feeling that, as good as Hy-Vee pies were, they could be even better. A hunt was on for a specialty bakery staffed by exceptional bakers who focus their complete attention on the art and science of great pie-making.

The search team fanned out across the country, looking for the best pies. They’d find a fabulous apple pie from one place, a lemon meringue from another and a French Silk somewhere else. These set the gold standard for how each pie should taste. Then the hunt was on for one bakery that could meet these standards with each pie.

A new round of taste-testing began. “We used a professional testing center,” says Chris Arnold, a Hy-Vee baker in Quad Cities. Researchers brought in ordinary people of all ages for tastings. “They would compare the bakery pies to our gold standard pies in a blind taste test, rate them and tell us what they liked and what they didn’t like. With the first six bakeries, we struck out. They just weren’t good enough.”

Testing took six months and 600 separate servings. Finally, one bakery rose above all the others. At the time, these bakers limited their sales of mouthwatering pies to restaurants—the kind of restaurants where pie is a main event.

“When our taste testers tried these pies, the responses were off the charts,” says Chris. They made comments like: “Reminds me of what Mom would make.” “It tastes homemade.” “Flaky, buttery crust.”

“The men and women of this company are true artisan bakers,” says Chris. “They go directly to the sources to find the finest ingredients.” Heirloom Northern Spy apples and cherries come from the Smeltzer family orchards in northwest Michigan. Raspberries, blueberries and marionberries are grown on the Maberry family farm at the foot of the Cascades in northern Washington. Wild blueberries are hand-harvested from the rocky outcroppings of northern Maine. Pastry flour from soft winter wheat is chosen because it produces the tenderest crust. No detail is too small, whether it’s farm-fresh eggs from down the road or the smooth taste of Korintje cinnamon from Indonesia.

To ensure the freshest flavor, all pies are flash-frozen and later thawed. At your local Hy-Vee Bakery, fruit pies are baked fresh, while cream and specialty pies are finished by hand.

The result of this careful attention? Every slice is absolute heaven.
GOURMET WILDBERRY

Wild Maine blueberries, marionberries and sun-ripened red raspberries in their natural juices create a luscious berry filling, complemented by a light, flaky crust.
ALL THE PIES

Pie can be a sweet indulgence or a satisfying ending to a great meal. Look for new premium pies in 12 flavors at your local Hy-Vee Bakery. Each is available in 10-inch and 6-inch sizes.

GOURMET APPLE: The flavor of Korintje cinnamon is most distinctive in a blend of spices.

GOURMET BLUEBERRY: Plump and succulent hand-harvested Maine fruit complements a flaky crust.

GOURMET CHERRY: For the ripest flavor, delicious tart red cherries are picked in the early summertime.

FRENCH SILK: The heart of this indulgence is the silky bliss of rich frothed cocoa and cream.

CHOCOLATE CREAM: A dreamy chocolate filling is made with real cocoa for a more intense flavor.

PUMPKIN (BAKED OR UNBAKED): Made with Dickinson pumpkin, the results are creamy smooth.

Scallop Salad with Cilantro and Lime

Sea scallops are better suited for grilling than the smaller bay scallops. Their succulent, sweet nature is enhanced by a cilantro and lime vinaigrette with just a spark of heat.

Prep: 20 minutes | Grill: 8 minutes | Serves 4

6 tablespoons Hy-Vee Select olive oil
6 tablespoons lime juice
2 tablespoons chopped cilantro
1 teaspoon kosher salt
½ teaspoon Hy-Vee ground cumin

16 sea scallops
2 cups chopped mango (about 2 medium)
1 large tomato, seeded and chopped
2 poblano peppers, seeded and finely chopped*
2 tablespoons finely chopped red onion
4 cups herb-mix salad greens
1 avocado, peeled, seeded and sliced
Hy-Vee salt and Hy-Vee black pepper, to taste

1. Prepare a charcoal or gas grill (with a well-greased grill rack) for direct grilling over medium-high heat.
2. For lime vinaigrette, combine olive oil, lime juice, cilantro, salt and cumin; set aside.
3. Rinse scallops; pat dry. Thread scallops onto skewers. (If using wooden skewers, soak them in water for 30 minutes before grilling.) Place skewers on grill rack; grill for 8 minutes or until scallops turn opaque, turning once halfway through grilling.

*Note: Chile peppers contain volatile oils that can burn your skin and eyes. When working with poblanos, wear protective gloves.

FLANK STEAK AND POTATO SALAD
Here’s a fresh take on salad for steak lovers. Marinade tenderizes this economical cut of beef.

Prep: 40 minutes | Marinate: 30 minutes
Grill: 12 to 15 minutes | Serves 4

1 recipe Herbed Vinaigrette (recipe, page 15)
1 ¼ pounds beef flank steak, about 1-inch thick
1 pound small potatoes
2 tablespoons Hy-Vee Select olive oil, divided
2 yellow bell peppers, cut into quarters
1 bunch green onions, trimmed
4 cups baby romaine salad greens

1. Prepare Herbed Vinaigrette; divide into two portions and set aside. Trim fat from steak. Score both sides of steak in a diamond pattern by making shallow diagonal cuts at 1-inch intervals. Place steak in a resealable plastic bag set in a shallow dish. Pour one portion of vinaigrette over steak. Seal bag; turn to coat steak. Marinate in fridge for 30 minutes.

2. In a large microwave-safe bowl, cook potatoes on HIGH for 3 to 5 minutes or until slightly tender. Cut potatoes in half; toss with 1 tablespoon olive oil. Thread potatoes onto skewers. (If using wooden skewers, soak them in water for 30 minutes before grilling.) Toss peppers and onions with remaining olive oil; thread onto skewers.

3. Prepare a charcoal or gas grill for direct grilling over medium heat. Grill steak to desired doneness, turning once halfway through, discarding marinade. Allow 12 to 15 minutes for medium-rare (145°F) to medium (160°F). Add potatoes and peppers to grill during the last 8 minutes of grilling and add green onions to the grill during the last 4 minutes, turning frequently.

4. Thinly slice steak against the grain. Coarsely chop peppers and slice onions. Serve greens, steak and vegetables with reserved portion of vinaigrette.

CABBAGE WITH BACON-MUSTARD DRESSING
Grilled cabbage is delicious and easy to fix. A bit on the sweet side, it picks up crispy edges and softens slightly as it grills, but still has a crunchy texture. A warm bacon vinaigrette adds a smoky, tangy flavor to the sweetness.

Prep: 30 minutes | Grill: 10 to 12 minutes | Serves 4

8 slices Hy-Vee bacon, chopped
2 tablespoons Hy-Vee honey
2 tablespoons Hy-Vee Dijon mustard
1 tablespoon Hy-Vee apple cider vinegar
½ cup finely chopped red onion
½ head (1 pound) green cabbage
½ head (1 pound) purple cabbage
¼ cup Hy-Vee canola oil

1. Prepare a charcoal or gas grill for direct grilling over medium heat.
2. For dressing, in a skillet, cook bacon until crisp. Drain, reserving drippings. Crumble bacon and set aside. In a small bowl, whisk together honey, mustard and vinegar. Slowly drizzle in bacon drippings and whisk until well blended. Stir in crumbled bacon and red onion; set aside.
3. Remove the loosest, toughest outer leaves from the cabbages. Cut each portion into four wedges. Do not remove the stalk or inner core. Lightly brush the wedges with canola oil.
4. Place wedges on grill rack. Grill for 10 to 12 minutes or until edges show grill marks and cabbage begins to soften, turning once. Arrange wedges on plate. Reheat dressing, if needed, and spoon over wedges. Serve immediately.

Nutrition facts per serving: 200 calories, 7 g fat, 2.5 g saturated fat, 0 g trans fat, 20 mg cholesterol, 520 mg sodium, 27 g carbohydrates, 5 g fiber, 18 g sugar, 9 g protein. Daily values: 50% vitamin A, 220% vitamin C, 10% calcium, 10% iron.
SALMON & SWEET POTATO SALAD

A fragrant cedar plank infuses smoky flavors into salmon. Set atop a bed of grilled sweet potatoes and kale, the salmon’s notes mingle with the slightly tangy blackberry vinaigrette.

- ⅓ cup plus 2 tablespoons Hy-Vee Select olive oil, divided
- 2 tablespoons balsamic vinegar
- 2 tablespoons seedless blackberry jam
- ½ teaspoon Hy-Vee Dijon mustard
- ¼ teaspoon Hy-Vee kosher sea salt, divided
- ⅛ teaspoon Hy-Vee black pepper, divided

2 medium sweet potatoes, peeled and cut into ¾-inch cubes

1 (1-pound) salmon fillet, skin on

2 sprigs fresh rosemary

6 cups kale leaves

2 tablespoons Hy-Vee slivered almonds, toasted

¼ cup Hy-Vee dried cranberries

¼ cup Hy-Vee Select crumbled feta

1. Prepare a charcoal or gas grill for direct grilling over medium heat. Place plank on grill rack. Grill about 5 minutes.

3. Thread sweet potato chunks onto skewers; set aside. (If using wooden skewers, soak them in water for 30 minutes before grilling.)

Add sweet potato skewers to grill; brush with remaining olive oil. Grill for 20 minutes or until salmon flakes easily with a fork and sweet potatoes are tender. Turn sweet potato skewers occasionally.

There's a new croissant in town and it's seriously addictive—and available at your Hy-Vee Bakery. You'll love eating croissants plain, but when you want something more, use these rich pastries as the building blocks for our creative mix of recipes.
Wander into any French bakery and you’ll find crisp, airy croissants fresh from the oven, with layers of soft buttery dough so delicate and rich they melt in your mouth. This pastry has become a favorite around the world.

The centuries-old, crescent-shaped bread originated with bakers in Vienna. But Marie Antoinette, who ate croissants while living in Austria as a girl, introduced them to France. In the early 1900s, a creative Parisian baker modified the recipe by making it with a dough similar to that used for puff pastry. A classic was born.

The secret to the bread’s prized flaky characteristics is what bakers call “laminating the dough.” This occurs when the yeast-leavened dough is repeatedly rolled and folded with chilled butter.

Now you can savor the delicate taste of croissants anytime you want. Your local Hy-Vee Bakery has introduced an exceptional new line of these classic pastries in two sizes—mini and large. They are baked fresh every morning, so you can enjoy them at their best.

“What makes our butter croissants stand out is how crisp they are fresh from the oven,” says Chris Arnold, Hy-Vee assistant vice president of bakery operations.

Chris and his bakery team spent months searching for a superior croissant, the kind you’d find in a French bakery. A panel of taste experts helped Hy-Vee determine the ingredients and techniques necessary for creating the most delicious croissant. After sampling hundreds, the taste panel found one that stood out above all others. These crunchy yet soft, buttery pastries from Hy-Vee are made to exacting standards. There’s pleasure in each bite.

While croissants show up mainly on the breakfast menu in France, creative American chefs have seen more potential in the flaky pastry—from elegant sandwiches to rich desserts. Thinly sliced, they form the base for crostini. Cubed, tossed in cinnamon sugar and toasted, they become parfait croutons. Baked into an egg casserole, their texture takes on a whole new personality. Let our recipes inspire you to create your own entrées, desserts or specialties.

With their flaky, butter-filled layers, croissants are best the day they’re baked, but they can be reheated. To reheat croissants, spread them on a baking sheet. For most award-winning athletes, their mothers were their first fans. Mom was the encourager, the driver, the cook and the place for a hug. Meet two of these women. They are Midwestern moms whose children are accomplished in their chosen sports. Theresa McDermott’s son Doug plays for the Chicago Bulls basketball team. Teri Johnson’s daughter Shawn is an Olympic gold medalist in gymnastics. In this Mother’s Day season, each demonstrates that success in competition is often rooted in our families.
Doug McDermott wonders if his team will still be playing. As much as he wants to be home to celebrate with his mother, Theresa, on her special day, he also wants to be on the court. Doug is just completing his rookie season as a professional basketball player with the Chicago Bulls. At 6 feet 8 inches, he is considere a small forward in the sport.

Basketball fans know all about Doug’s scoring abilities. When he shoots, the ball seems to respond to a magnetic pull as it zeroes in on the hoop.

He started grabbing attention during his years at Iowa’s Ames High School. In his junior and senior years, the Ames team won 53 straight games and two state titles. In four years at Creighton University, he scored 3,150 points, putting him fifth among all NCAA players for their college careers. With the Bulls this year, he has shown flashes of his talent but missed months because of a knee injury.

He shares the game with his father, Greg McDermott, a college basketball head coach since 1994. But Doug also has a secret weapon.

His mother, Theresa, has been an irreplaceable player on her son’s team, though she doesn’t get into the limelight as often as her husband. She has had a deep influence throughout Doug’s life, particularly during her fight against cancer in 2005.

“She's a great person to look up to growing up.” —Doug

“Her going through cancer really made me a stronger person. The way she battled it on a daily basis made us all [her family] stronger human beings,” Doug says.

On Mother’s Day, the family celebrates a decade since Theresa’s medical crisis. Fortunately, treatments were successful and she has since remained cancer-free.

Whether she felt weak or strong, Theresa went to Doug’s games all through his high school and college years. She can’t make every game today, but she goes as often she can.

“Because he's in Chicago, I can make it there once or twice a month to see him play. I’ve been married to a coach for so long, it just seems like normal life.”

Reaching adulthood meant entering a very different life for gymnast Shawn Johnson. She’s no longer spending hour after hour in a gym, practicing routines on floor mats and bars. The pure excitement of the Olympic Games are slowly fading behind her.

It was a dizzying ride. Long years of gymnastics training led to years of competition on the international stage. The highlight was the 2008 Summer Olympics in Beijing, China, where she won a gold medal in the balance beam and three silver medals for her performances.

She made national headlines again in 2009 by winning TV’s Dancing with the Stars competition. She returned to DWTS in 2012, taking second in an all-star show.

Now she looks back on all those experiences and better understands the role her parents played. She realizes that she couldn’t have reached such heights without her mom and dad’s support and guidance.

“My mom has been there for me 365 days a year for all my life. From the time I was little, she would drive me to school and help me with my homework and travel with me across the world to compete. She’s done absolutely everything for me. She’s amazing,” she says.

For her part, Teri says raising her daughter wasn’t about medals, but strength of character.

She says, “What I admire about Shawn so much are things that I wanted to be but wasn’t. I was very shy—painfully shy—when I was young. She’s a much stronger, more confident person that I am.”

As a symbol of their close connection, Teri wears a ring that was given to her by Shawn when she was only eight years old (with help from her father). The word Mom is prominent in the ring’s design.

“It’s two times special to me because I wear it every day and I see it every day,” Teri says.

Today, Shawn lives in Nashville, Tennessee. She is pursuing a college degree in psychology online through Penn State University. She has an online business, TheBodyDepartment.com, for young women who want to learn about diet and safe, effective fitness training.

“MY MOM IS A VERY STRONG PERSON. I LIKE THAT.”

—SHAWN

Since kids spend years watching their parents preparing meals, it’s no surprise that children would try making the meal on Mother’s Day.

Teri says, “Shawn always did a lot of little things for me. She’d bring me a special coffee or make me breakfast or bake for me. She always brought me flowers.”

As a little girl, Shawn wanted to create wonderful memories for her mom. But it didn’t always work as planned. “I wanted to do monumental things for mom on Mother’s Day. So I’d to make breakfasts or dinners for her. But it never worked like I wanted it to. Mom would just wind up having to clean up everything.”

1 tablespoon minced garlic (about 6 cloves)
1 tablespoon Hy-Vee salt
1 tablespoon Hy-Vee black pepper
4 (6-ounce) bone-in pork loin chops, 1 inch thick
Creamy Parmesan Polenta, optional (see recipe, www.hy-vee.com/recipes)
Fresh Italian parsley, for garnish

1. For marinade, in a small bowl, combine 2 cups espresso, 1 tablespoon molasses, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, garlic, salt and pepper. Place pork in a large resealable plastic bag set in a shallow dish. Pour marinade over meat; seal bag. Marinate in the refrigerator for 8 to 24 hours, turning bag occasionally.

2. For glaze, in a large skillet combine 4 cups espresso, ½ cup brown sugar and 2 tablespoons molasses. Bring to boiling; reduce heat and gently boil for 30 to 35 minutes or until mixture thickens and reduces to about ½ cup.

3. Prepare a charcoal or gas grill for direct grilling over medium heat. Drain meat, discarding marinade. Grill chops for 10 to 14 minutes, or until done (145°F), turning once and brushing occasionally with glaze during grilling. Cover chops loosely with foil and let rest for 5 minutes. Drizzle extra glaze over top and, if desired, serve with Creamy Parmesan Polenta. Garnish with parsley, if desired.

COFFEE-AND-MAPLE-GLAZED NUTS

Most coffee beans come from one of two species of plants—arabica, grown in high altitudes, and robusta, a hardy plant that grows in lower altitudes. Connoisseurs generally prefer arabica coffees for their rich, complex flavors.

What's surprising is how many styles of coffee are derived from these two plants. Browse a Hy-Vee coffee aisle, and you'll find an array of coffee beans with a variety of names; some, such as Colombian Supremo, are named for the country or region where the beans were grown. Other coffees are grouped according to how long they are roasted. The longer the beans are exposed to heat, the darker they become. One of these is dark French roast, named by 19th-century Americans who apparently thought it would help sell their coffee.

Choosing light or dark beans is a personal preference: Most light beans offer lighter flavor; the darker the beans, the stronger the flavor.

STEPS TO A RICH CUP

- Skip the Bulk Buys: Because coffee beans can lose freshness it's best to purchase the amount of coffee you can use in one week. Store beans in an airtight container in a dark, cool place. Never store your daily coffee in the refrigerator or freezer.

- Grind Daily: For freshest flavor, purchase whole coffee beans (rather than ground coffee) and grind just before brewing. Follow your equipment manufacturer's directions for how fine or coarse to grind the coffee—too coarse and the flavor may be weakened; too fine and the coffee can clog the filter or become bitter.

- For Good Measure: Generally, for each 6-ounce cup, you should use 1 to 2 tablespoons ground coffee, depending on how bold you like your brew.

- Water woes: Use cold water freshly drawn from the tap. However, if your tap water is highly chlorinated, soft-treated or especially hard, use bottled water to get the best possible flavors from your coffee.

- Temperature Matters: Coffee's best qualities are released at temperatures between 195° and 205°F—just below the boiling point. To hit that temp range, bring water to a full boil. Take the kettle off the heat and let it stand for a minute before pouring the water over the coffee grounds.

EQUIPMENT RUNDOWN

You'll find many kinds of coffee makers on the market; these are some of the most popular:

- The Purist’s Choice: With a manual drip system, set a filter cone on a carafe and fill the cone with freshly ground coffee. Pour boiled water over coffee grounds; your cup will be ready as soon as water drips through. This method lets you control water temperature, one key to exceptional coffee.

- Easy Does It: With features such as automatic timers and warming plates, automatic drip coffee machines are convenient. However you have less control over the water temperature.

- Ooh-la-la!: With a French press, boiled water is poured over coffee in a cylindrical carafe. After a few minutes brewing time, a plunger filter is pressed through the water, trapping the grounds in the bottom. With this method, some sediment remains in the coffee—fans say this adds character and intensity, while detractors deem the coffee “gritty.”

THE K-CUP REVOLUTION

In the early 2000s, Keurig coffee makers brought a sea change to the coffee world. This coffee is brewed using K-Cups, small plastic containers of coffee grounds. To make a cup, fill the machine with water, put in a K-Cup and the machine does the rest. You get a hot cup of coffee in a few moments.
DO YOU DRINK HOT COFFEE FROM A PLASTIC CUP? THEN WHY WOULD YOU BREW FROM ONE?

CHOOSE CAMERON’S FILTERED SINGLE SERVES WITH A COFFEE FILTER, NOT A PLASTIC CUP.

NEW ON THE SCENE

Similar to cappuccino or latte, the flat white is a new drink for coffee lovers. Hailing from Australia, this rich brew starts with a single or double shot of espresso.

Rather than the foam from a frothed pitcher of milk (required for cappuccino), use the “microfoam” – the velvety hot milk that lies beneath the stiff foam. The microfoam’s creaminess (versus stiffness) puts the “flat” in flat white. While cappuccinos and lattes are generally more milk-centric, espresso dominates the flavor of the flat white.

TRADE SECRETS

Show off your skills with these easy DIY coffee tricks.

• Faux Espresso: A ridiculously strong cup of dark-roast coffee can pass for espresso. Or use an espresso-roast K-Cup in your Keurig coffee maker.
• Make It a Mocha: Stir a little chocolate syrup into coffee before you top it off with foam.
• Foam at Home: Place a small amount of low-fat milk in a screw-cap jar; shake vigorously until foamy. Microwave the jar, uncovered, about 30 seconds – the froth stiffens and climbs the jar, but don’t let it foam over. Milk will be steamy at the bottom and foamy on top. Pour the steamy milk into the coffee, and spoon the foam over top.

But this style of brewing isn’t only about dispensing an effortless cup, it’s also about getting the exact type of coffee or hot beverage you crave. K-Cups are available with your favorite roasts from nationally known coffeehouses and purveyors. Coffee brands include Starbucks, Italy’s Lavazza, Krispy Kreme Doughnuts, Seattle’s Best and about 50 others. You can also purchase teas, hot cocoa and fruit beverages. You can also make oatmeal and three flavors of Hy-Vee soup with your machine.

The Keurig 2.0 brewing system has debuted. The model brews single K-cup servings (uses only K-Cups with a black “Keurig Brewed” symbol on the packaging) or serves four cups of coffee using a new K-Carafe pack. The 2.0 also uses a new technology that scans the K-cup, and customizes the settings for that particular beverage. Find the upgraded machine, along with dozens of K-Cup options at select Hy-Vee stores.

MEALS FOR THE WEEK

SERVE FRESH, CREATIVE DINNERS ALL WEEK LONG WITH A FAMILY-FRIENDLY MEAL PLAN THAT INCLUDES A HANDY SHOPPING LIST, EASY RECIPES AND QUICK-COOKING TRICKS.

WORDS Lois White PHOTOS Tobin Bennett
WE’VE ALL BEEN THERE. FIVE O’CLOCK ROLLS AROUND AND THE “WHAT’S FOR DINNER?” QUESTION COMES UP. There’s no silver bullet or divine secret to meal planning. It just takes a little time and creativity. If you rarely bother with meal planning or shopping with a strategy, let us show you better ways that will save you time and money.

Start with the following five-day meal plan, which includes recipes that will help you plan around your family’s activities. The recipes showcase an array of dishes that will fill your diet with spring veggies. Aromatic leeks and green peas are simple additions to a frittata. Fresh baby spinach and tender asparagus infuse vibrant flavors into a homemade chicken soup. Fresh, precut veggies from your Hy-Vee produce section add a rainbow of colors and flavors to sandwiches and stir-fries.

Save time by cooking enough to last for two nights. This is easily accomplished by using a slow cooker to prepare a whole chicken or large roast. You can eat half one night and freeze the other half for later. To save even more time, use a Hy-Vee rotisserie chicken for your soup.

There may be nights when everyone is eating at different times. In that case, plan meals that will hold well in the refrigerator and can be reheated without compromising flavor or texture. Soups, stews, chili and casseroles are good choices, especially when activities and sports are in full swing.

You also need a shopping strategy. Set aside a convenient time, and plan to do all the shopping for the next week of meals during this trip. Be sure your list includes specific amounts of each ingredient you must have for recipes. In the sample shopping list, see page 62, you will see the amounts needed for the ingredients used in this story’s recipes. Add staples, such as milk, bread or lunch items, and other foods you need. Use Hy-Vee’s convenient smartphone app for grouping items together according to their location in your local Hy-Vee store. Be on the lookout for time-saving ingredients such as prechopped fruits and veggies, herb and garlic pastes, salad green mixes and ready-made sauces and salsas.

Once your meal plan has been established and shopping is done, post your menus on the fridge or a dry-erase board. This ensures that everyone in the family, including the cook, knows what’s coming for dinner.
THE MOST EFFICIENT WAY TO SHOP IS TO FOLLOW A GROCERY LIST THAT’S ORGANIZED ACCORDING TO LOCATION OF ITEMS AT THE GROCERY STORE. ALL THE INGREDIENTS FROM THIS STORY’S ENTREES ARE GROUPED HERE BY LOCATION. ADD INGREDIENTS FOR SIDE DISHES.

A MENU OF TIPS

PLAN AHEAD
Pencil your lineup of dinners into a one-week calendar. Make out your grocery list based on this menu and do all shopping for the week in one trip.

SLOW COOKING
Never chill slow-cooked meals in the slow cooker itself. The lining of the pot is usually too thick for foods to be chilled in a quick and safe manner.

BEST BREAD
Hy-Vee Baking Stone breads are a good foundation for sandwiches. Denser slices maintain their thickness and become crisp when grilled.

HERB CARE
To protect the freshness of herbs, wrap them in moist paper towels and store in plastic bags in your refrigerator’s produce drawer.

GARNISH SIMPLY
A sprinkling of chopped herbs, freshly grated Parmesan cheese or cracked black pepper adds pizzazz and flavor to most any dish.

Pet owners have very strong feelings about their dogs, cats and even parakeets. Nine out of 10 consider their pets part of the family, according to The Harris Poll. About a third of owners purchase Christmas gifts for their animal friends and 20 percent also shower their pet pals with birthday presents.

Such devotion is padding the nest for pets. They are eating better, receiving necessary medical care and generally living the good life. These trends are also prompting Hy-Vee to expand pet departments.

In larger new Hy-Vee stores, the Pet Department has become a store-within-a-store. Open, light and relaxed by design, the entire section can be scanned at a glance.

In all Hy-Vee stores, there are more choices than ever in foods, treats, grooming supplies and other necessities. In addition to items for dogs and cats, you will find food and other products for birds, fish, rabbits and squirrels.

In foods, the movement is toward nutritious, good-for-your-pet choices. You will even find an array of vitamins for dogs and cats. There is an increasing selection of foods made with natural ingredients, refrigerated meals, dishes that closely resemble people foods, organics, kibble of every variety and even vegetarian cookies.
TAIL-WAGGING TOYS
Dogs love toys. So Hy-Vee stocks an incredible array of chew toys and other fun things for every type of dog. There are ropes to tug, balls to catch and stuffed animals for snuggling. Cats too love toys, particularly feathered objects they hunt like prey and items filled with catnip.

MORE TO CHEW
In addition to toys that can be chewed, there are almost endless choices in bones, chunks of rawhide, dried farm products and other hard items that dogs enjoy gnawing. Hy-Vee also carries many types of dental hygiene chews. These are designed to support good health in dogs’ teeth and gums.

BULK BUYS IN TREATS
Dog treats and foods are now sold from bulk bins in the Pet Department of many Hy-Vee stores. Treats are offered by the pound—mostly biscuits baked in assorted sizes. These are economical choices for keeping your pet happy. Natural ingredients are used in these products.

go toward digging wells and funding other fresh-water projects in needy countries.

The problem is serious—the No. 1 killer in the world is unsafe water. A lack of clean water in underdeveloped nations leaves one in six people in need of this vital resource. Without it, the poor are wracked by disease and malnutrition.

Fortunately, the problem can be solved. Providing clean drinking water is more a matter of will and commitment than money or know-how. Through the One Step program, Hy-Vee and its customers are joining hands to improve lives from the first day a spigot is turned on in some distant land.

In the water project, Hy-Vee has joined forces with Rotary International, which has been working for years to increase the supply of healthy water around the world. The organization has gained knowledge about digging wells and developing water-delivery systems in countries devastated by poverty and natural disaster.

So far, proceeds from sales of One Step Bottled Water have led to the completion of 11 clean-water projects. New sources of clean drinking water are now available to towns and villages in South Africa, South Sudan, Lebanon, Tanzania, Nigeria, Haiti, Kenya and Chad.

Hearing about the need for clean water in Africa, you want to do something to help. But what? After a natural disaster, you’d like to reach out to people in need. But how? One simple way to lend assistance is to purchase commonly used Hy-Vee One Step products.

One Step is a line of four products—paper towels, water, shredded wheat cereal and russet potatoes—that serves a dual purpose. First, products do what you bought them for, such as clean a spill, quench your thirst or satisfy you at breakfast or dinner. Second, these products offer a way to reach out to a struggling world. A portion of the proceeds goes to projects in the U.S. and abroad.

“One Step is a vital part of what the company is all about and it tells you a lot about the goodwill of our customers,” says Brad Waller, Hy-Vee assistant vice president of community relations. “We offer a few everyday products that will help fund good works—some in our communities and some elsewhere in the world—and our customers respond. Through this natural partnership, we all help to make the world a little better.”

WATER

Give the gift of clean drinking water to people who have none. Buy packs or singles of One Step Bottled Water, and proceeds will go toward digging wells and funding other fresh-water projects in needy countries.

Lend a helping hand to the world by purchasing any of four Hy-Vee One Step products. Whether you buy paper towels, bottled water, potatoes or cereal, part of each purchase helps dig water wells, establish community gardens, feed the hungry or plant trees.
Water, silt and mud slammed the 544-acre Wilson Island State Recreation Area during record Missouri River flooding in the summer of 2011. Buildings were damaged beyond repair, campsites buried and trees wiped out.

Investing proceeds from sales of One Step Paper Towels, Hy-Vee funded the planting of 14,000 trees at the park, which is located about 20 miles north of Council Bluffs, Iowa. The paper towels are the right product for the job—environmentally friendly, they’re manufactured from recycled materials.

Hy-Vee partnered with the Arbor Day Foundation to get the trees planted. Establishing young trees will bring the island back to health by providing wildlife habitat and adding shade and beauty for visitors.

The bare-root seedlings represented many species, including cottonwood, silver maple, sycamore, black willow, honey locust, American elm, box elder, black cherry, green ash and bur oak, according to the Arbor Day Foundation. Twelve acres were planted.

A volunteer group called The Friends of Wilson Park helped plant the trees, says the group’s president, Michael Johnson of Missouri Valley, Iowa.

“Four of us did the planting over two very cold, wet days,” Michael says. “We used a tree planter—an implement attached to the back of a tractor. We did the work as a public service.” Through your purchase of One Step Paper Towels, you can participate in reforestation projects similar to the work done at Wilson Island State Recreation Area.
SHREDDED WHEAT

Hunger is a serious problem. Millions of people, around the world as well as in our backyard, lack a dependable, adequate supply of food.

Help put hunger in check by purchasing One Step Shredded Wheat. A portion of the profit from the sale of each box goes to the Meals from the Heartland program.

Through the nonprofit Meals food program, millions of easily-prepared food packages go to those in need. The program began as a way to help those in need in Central Iowa. In 2008, Meals extended its outreach beyond Iowa. Volunteers were invited to show up at Hy-Vee Hall in downtown Des Moines to pack meals at the first Annual Hunger Fight event. More than 12,000 volunteers participated, packing about four million meals.

Today, volunteers from churches, organizations, schools and businesses—and even individual volunteers—gather regularly for food-packing events. To this date, Meals has provided nearly 50 million meals to the hungry around the world. The nutritionally-balanced packets contain a rice-and-soy meal or a macaroni-and-cheese meal.

Through One Step Shredded Wheat, roughly 183,000 meals have been packaged and shipped to food banks throughout the Midwest.

RUSSET POTATOES

Public gardens where local residents grow their own fruits and vegetables are needed in most communities. Not only are gardens a source of low-cost food for poor neighborhoods, raising crops also teaches children about nutrition and the rewards of growing food.

Development of community gardens is funded through sales of 5-pound bags of One Step Russett Potatoes. In 2014, proceeds were invested in 240 gardens.

One example is the Amos Hiatt Community Garden in Des Moines, Iowa. It was designed to provide agriculture space for a low-income neighborhood. The garden has 24 plots and was founded by a student group at Drake University.

The Amos Hiatt garden thrives near a middle school and—by design—many of those who use the garden are children. As children learn about gardening, entire families benefit, says Julie McMillin, Hy-Vee director of health and wellness.

“Children get plenty of quality time preparing and planting the gardens. Then it’s important for the kids to eat what they grow. It gives them some pride—and many parents take away just as much as the kids do from these activities,” Julie says.

Hy-Vee dietitians support the gardens by teaching kids about the health benefits of such foods as squash, asparagus and Brussels sprouts. Encouraging kids to eat more fruit and vegetables is easier when they have grown the produce themselves.
